

Dogdotcalm bandanas receive patent

SEQUIM — Innovation Law Group Ltd. recently announced the grant of a U.S. utility patent to inventors Mary and Paul Jendrucko of Sequim for specially configured pet bandanas containing lavender sachets.

The Jendrucko lavender pet bandana is sold nationally under the dogdotcalm brand.

The bandana can be worn around the necks of people or animals to deliver calming aromatherapeutic lavender vapors.

The reversible bandanas are available in a wide range of sizes and fabric patterns.

The Jendruckos distribute their patented aromatherapy lavender bandana through their business, Sequim Lavender Company, LLC.

It is available at their booth in the Sequim Lavender Festival Street Fair, by e-mail to dogdotcalm@yahoo.com, at www.dogdotcalm.com or by calling 360-582-1907.

Innovation Law Group offers full service patent, trademark, copyright and related business counseling from its Sequim office, 237 N. Sequim Ave., and can be reached at 360-681-7305.

Click on www.innovationlaw.com for more information.

Sequim This Week 7/23-29 p14